A RARE MAN

On the first day of the new year we bade farewell to a gentle Christian man, Ed Sanders. He was kind and courteous, friendly and caring. He really loved people and it showed. If he ever had an enemy, I never heard about him.

He lost his right arm when he was nine but no one who knew him would consider him handicapped. He could do more with one arm and hand than most with two. He could type faster than most people, tie his shoe laces in a snap, and fly fish like it was second nature.

He was impressive in many ways, but one was his grasp of so many subjects. Whether it was medicine or birds, American Indians or the history of English royalty, his knowledge was nothing short of amazing! He loved learning and he absorbed information and details about everything, and he was glad to share. In fact, he was a teacher's teacher!

Passionate about missions and the local church, he was a wonderful preacher for more than fifty years. His writing and preaching, counseling and mission trips, classroom teaching and school administration made an indelible mark on the lives of many thousands. He traveled over the world teaching about Jesus, encouraging churches, and training others to share the good news. Only eternity can reveal how many became Christians because of his work in the kingdom.

Ed Sanders was a rare man for all the best reasons. It is an honor to be his son-in-law.

Thank you for every prayer and deed, for every thoughtful and comforting word. Your love and kindness was shown in so many ways and we will always be grateful. There really is nothing like the Family of God.

Mike W. Ireland
